SITUATION REPORT #60

1600 Hours Monday, December 12, 2011
Next SITREP 1600 Hours Tuesday, December 13, 2011

SUMMARY

Gov. Bob McDonnell declared a state of emergency September 9 in response to heavy rain and flooding in Virginia resulting from remnants of Tropical Storm Lee primarily east of the I-95 corridor. As much as 20.96 inches of rain fell in the affected area September 8-9. Five fatalities were confirmed statewide.

On October 7, the governor requested a 30-day deadline extension to validate current and additional damages with the Virginia Department of Transportation (VDOT) in anticipation of a request for a Public Assistance declaration. On October 13, FEMA extended the deadline to November 7 for submitting Preliminary Damage Assessments.

On October 8, the Commonwealth submitted its request for an Individual Assistance declaration for Fairfax and Prince William counties. On November 4, FEMA denied Virginia's request for the Major Individual Assistance Declaration for Fairfax and Prince William counties. Storm damage was concentrated in those counties but FEMA said it was not severe or widespread enough for Virginia to qualify for Individual Assistance.

The governor submitted a letter November 8 requesting a U.S. Small Business Administration Disaster Loan Program declaration for Prince William and Fairfax counties. Under a November 14 declaration, the SBA made low interest loans available in Prince William and Fairfax counties, as well as the contiguous counties of Arlington, Fauquier, Loudoun and Stafford and the cities of Alexandria, Fairfax, Falls Church, Manassas and Manassas Park.

The SBA opened Disaster Loan Outreach Centers to serve Fairfax County and surrounding localities and in Woodbridge to serve Prince William County and surrounding localities. The offices, which closed November 22, facilitated loan applications for individuals, renters and businesses affected by the storm.

The governor submitted a letter November 7 to FEMA requesting a federal declaration for Public Assistance.

On November 17, FEMA approved the governor's request for a federal declaration for Public Assistance for the counties of Caroline, Essex, Fairfax, King and Queen, King George, Prince William and Westmoreland and the independent city of Alexandria.
